“Recently I had the privilege of hearing Ariana Newcomer speak at a local event. She was engaging and her voice stories just make sense. For example, how I can have a hard time speaking up because in my world growing up "girls were seen and not heard" can be something that holds us back with out us even knowing it. She kept my interest the whole time, and I was left with wanting to know more. I'd highly recommend her if you are looking for a speaker for your meeting or event.” - Lynne Sagen, Speaker, Trainer, Strategist.

“You really should work with Ariana.”

Ariana gave me a new route to the power in my voice. This was such a gift! I have access to all of my voice! I can now fill the room with my voice, and I'm comfortable. I don't lose control of my inflection and my emotions. She brought a lot of stuff out of me that I normally wouldn't talk about, and I saw how those old stories were holding me back. I didn't expect to have permission to be that powerful from the stage. You really should work with Ariana. Your voice is so important to your life and your livelihood. You get questions answered you didn't know to ask. The power of it is, it's YOU. Bring yourself and do it with all your might. It's time

“I'm so grateful she's on this journey with me.”

I see how vastly important it is for women, specifically, to work with their voice. As women, there is a part of us that is always shushed. The extent to which we hold our voices back is the extent to which we shush who we are. This is really, and literally, vital for us. If you're thinking about working with Ariana, do it. It's some of the best work one can do for oneself. Ariana has the training, education and capacity to take anyone from wherever they are, as far as they want to go. I'm so grateful she's on this journey with me. - Petalyn Swart, Founder of HeartFueled Giants.

“You will walk away transforming your business and your life.”

I had no idea I had been carrying all these different voice stories with me for so long. They held me back in so many ways. There was an amazing breakthrough working with you. My throat chakra has opened up wide, and now I feel like I can begin stepping into my purpose and speaking from a position of empowerment, service and confidence. Anyone considering coaching with Ariana, I highly recommend it. You will walk away transforming your business and your life. Thank you! - Isis Jade, author of “Delight,” “Awakening The Goddess,” and 4 other books.

“My whole life opened up.”

Ariana has such thorough knowledge in so many areas that my entire program was really holistic. After we uncovered the voice story that had me speaking in a small voice, I learned to find my “power voice.” My whole life opened up. I got a new job, started taking the lead at work with assurance, improved all my family relationships, and started writing poetry and drawing. I now have a voice that speaks the authority and wisdom within me, and I look forward to sharing and teaching the lessons of my life's journey. If it is important to you to really be HEARD and to be truly compelling in your spoken communications, then I recommend Ariana. - Connie Cahllil

“Do it. Your voice matters.”

As someone who was mute for years, and shut down for even more, I say take a chance. Ariana can handle the truth of your emotions and your fear. This is our work in the world - to find our voice. Do it. Your voice matters. - Barbara Prose, Unitarian Universalist Minister

“She is an insightful guide and gifted teacher.”

It was wonderful to work with Ariana. She taught me techniques and theory that helped me find my voice again. I have gained confidence, pleasure and even joy in speaking. She is an insightful guide and gifted teacher, and I have and will recommend her highly to anyone who feels inadequate or has been traumatized about how he or she speaks. - Margalynne Armstrong, law professor
